

The commitment of the management and all employees in Filc is the path of continuous improvement to excellence. The culture of the company places us among the valued and desirable partners of all stakeholders we cooperate with. We live and act in accordance with legal and other requirements, the fundamental values of Filc, with the defined business ethics, vision and strategy. The key to our success is in long-term partnerships with our customers and suppliers, in continuous learning and transfer of good practices. The development of our company in recent years shows that we follow the right strategy that together with a regular systematic analysis of risks and opportunities, and with target-oriented management, provides us a good basis for further successful expansion of business and sustainable development of the company.

We develop a philosophy: NO ERRORS, NO ENVIRONMENTAL ACCIDENTS, NO WORKING ACCIDENTS.

With a commitment to reduce specific energy consumption and natural resources and reducing the specific amount of waste, in accordance with the existing valid environmental legislation, we take care of environmental protection not only during the production phase, but also throughout the lifetime of our product.

We recognize and reduce the risks of injuries and other health problems, as we are aware of the responsibility for ensuring a safe working environment, functioning in accordance with legal and other requirements and the constant need to improving ourselves.

We encourage cooperation and consultation of employees, transfer of best practices, innovation and acquiring knowledge of all employees, which improves mutual relations, the company's business and enables to employees personal and career development.

The management of the company implements all necessary activities so that all employees and all those who work on behalf of Filc are familiar with the company's policy; understand implement and maintain it in their business field.

As a managing director, I am personally committed to regularly reviewing the achievement of goals, the necessary improvements, and thus to the successful operation of the company.
